Bet is beavy at par buying, and & premium selling. On outside points dealers buy very sparingly at par, and round sums, if put upon the market, would not bring better than & discount. There is not a great deal offering, however, and we heard of no transactions below par, Gold is very quiet. The rates are one premium buying, and two premium selling. The price having advanced in New York to three premium, it is held with more timness here, and while the trifling retail demand is supplied at two, round sums would not be sold. It would pay well to ship it now, but we do not hear of any movement in this direction. If the specie speculators in New York should run figures up much higher, the West will pour in the coin pretty freely. A collapse in both gold and foreign exchange, however, is probable.

COPPER.—The market was quiet, but tolerably firm. A small lot of Maracalbo (70 bags) sold on private terms.

COPPER.—The chief feature of the day was the public sale of 79 bales of sea island clean cotton, from Port Royal, at prices ranging from 57c. a 63c., giving an average of 60c., which would be about the value for good quality of this kind of cotton, if in the market. The chief purchaser was Wm. Lattimer, who took 46 bales, which, it was supposed, be designed for shipment to Europe. A portion was also knocked down to spinners or to their agents. It is only used in this country for the manufacture of fine cotton sewing thread, which is confined chiefly to two mills. Hitherto nearly the whole crop of sea island cotton has been sent to Europe.
